MARAZION MEMORIES -

Reminiscences and stories from the people of Marazion, Ludgvan, St. Hilary & Perranuthnoe.

Marazion Memories is a sparkling example of what can be achieved by local voluntary action. Oral Social History has been put centre stage as a Life Affirming Project, as a Teaching Resource, as a Research Topic, but primarily as a lively look at how our parents and grandparents lived their early years.

Already used in schools to support national curriculum history topics, Marazion Memories has been built as an inter-generational 'bridge'. It achieves this with fascinating written, audio and pictorial reminiscences.

Extensively indexed, the book provides detailed cross-references for those following social history academic studies. With a full listing of Names and Place Names it also provides a source for the amateur genealogists looking for insight into their ancestors' lives.

Far from looking backwards wistfully or with sadness, Marazion Memories describes the fun and joy of a quieter, simpler age. These are stories of lives lived full to the brim, and experiences passed on with pleasure for the readers' delight.
